ABOUT THE PROGRAMME

The arts and social science are as important as science and technology for ensuring a country's growth and development. The diverse fields of the arts and social science serve as the pillars that prop up the economy and the bonds that hold together the social fabric of a nation. The ready demand for skilled workers in the arts and social science is spurring the interest of the younger generation in taking up a profession in those fields as their lifelong careers.

The XMUM Foundation in Arts and Social Science programme opens up opportunities for higher education in various fields of the arts and social science. After the successful completion of the programme, students will progress to an undergraduate programme of study at XMUM in areas such as business, accounting, finance, e-commerce, journalism, advertising, English language and literature, and Chinese studies.
